

TRANSFORMING EXPOSURE SCIENCE IN THE 21ST CENTURY

19TH ANNUAL CONFERENCE OF THE
INTERNATIONAL SOCIETY OF EXPOSURE SCIENCE
CALL FOR ABSTRACTS AND SYMPOSIA

NOVEMBER 1-5, 2009 • MINNEAPOLIS, MN

The technical organizing committee invites researchers to submit abstracts and symposia proposals for the 2009 Annual Conference of the International Society of Exposure Science (ISES). Abstracts and symposia on the full spectrum of human and ecological exposure science are sought. Research on the following important exposure science issues are of particular interest:

Global Exposure Issues

- Climate change
- Disaster relief
- Sustainable/alternative energy
- Water supply
- Infectious disease
- Unintended consequences

Local/Regional Exposure Issues

- Urban planning, green, sustainable development
- Indoor and built environment
- Vulnerable communities and populations
- Microbial exposure and risk
- Pesticide exposure and risk
- Medical devices and pharmaceuticals

Emerging and High Impact Exposure Issues

- Exposure science for prioritization
- Design and interpretation of HTP (high throughput) toxicity testing
- Gene-environment interactions
- Epigenetics and exposure
- Genomic markers of exposure
- Exposure biology
- Biosensors for exposure and dose monitoring
- Nanotechnology
- Synthetic biology
- Green chemistry
- Phthalates and flame retardants
